BATTLED FOR SIXTEEN HOURS WITH HIGH SEAS

Stamer Which Foundered ON Passage to the Gulf of Mexico. Crew of Seventeen Made Landing After Long Journey Along Shore at Copper Harbor.

Caimen, Mich., Nov. 16.—The steamer which foundered off Passage Island has been definitely located as the Ottawa, which, when laden, left Fort Arthur on Sunday night. The Ottawa left on a light gale from the northwest with snow, but the storm increased during the night. On Monday morning it was found that the cargo was shifting, but the mountainous seas prevented opening of the hatches to trim the cargo, and the vessel would be inevitably swamped. The heavy seas meant while pounded the ship with the exception of a yawl.
Shortly before ten o'clock in the morning the decided list increased to such an extent that the vessel was unable to maintain her position. The crew finally abandoned her, entering the sole remaining life boat, and only kept afloat by the aid of the life buoy. The vessel was finally lost to the waves until the morning of the 17th, when a narrow escape.

Boiler Exploded as She Sank.
The boat was scarcely out of the steamer when she disappeared, the boiler exploding and a result of the weather moderating, the yawl made for Eagle Harbor, but by midnight it was found that the vessel was not at that point impossible and the boat had run to the north-west wind along the shore.
With great difficulty and peril Captain Birmah was made, aided by the Gull lightkeepers, who went to the rescue of the boat. The weather moderating, the yawl made for Eagle Harbor, but by midnight it was found that the vessel was not at that point impossible and the boat had run to the north-west wind along the shore.

GOOD ROADS SUBJECT OF PREMIER'S ADDRESS

Hon. A. C. Rutherford Speaks Before Convention in Strathcona of Alberta Local Improvement Districts—Sees Many Difficulties in Way of R. T. Telford's Scheme.

A talk on the road problem of this province and how the provincial government is seeking to cope with it was given by Premier Rutherford this morning before the convention of representatives of Alberta Local Improvement districts. The Premier was welcomed on by a delegation on Wednesday and continued to speak on the question of most importance to the convention—that of good roads.

The first business this morning was the reading of the report of the committee on resolutions. Foremost among these was an important resolution presented by R. T. Telford, M.P.P. of Leduc, and supported before the convention by A. L. Marks, of Leduc. The resolution was along the lines of the scheme for securing good roads as developed by Mr. Telford and read as follows:

Whereas, this convention is of the opinion that in order to secure the rapid and uniform development of the West through the building of traffic highways, it is essential that all interests benefitting from such development should contribute something thereto; and

Whereas, the following are considered, to be the benefited interests, then it is resolved:

1. The Dominion; 2. The Province; and 3. The Proposed Municipalities; and

Whereas, the province and the municipalities have in the past forth contributed toward this end.

Therefore, it is resolved that this convention is of the opinion that the Dominion Government in order to do its part in securing the desired development of the West, should set aside two sections of land in each township, say 9 and 27, to be sold, and the proceeds of such sales devoted to the building of roads and bridges within the province, such roads to be under provincial supervision.

Premier Sees Difficulties. It was practically to this resolution, which was clearly and forcibly introduced by Mr. Telford, that the Premier was called upon to speak. He began by saying that he thought it was a splendid thing for the province in the early years of its career to hold conventions of this nature for the exchange of opinions on important matters touching the welfare of the province.

"The road question has been with us in the past and I think will always be with us," said the Premier. I have been made acquainted with Mr. Telford's scheme of securing a revenue for roads but I think I see many difficulties in the way. There are few Dominion lands south of the Saskatchewan River now and consequently few townships where two quarter sections could be found. I am aware of course that the scheme may be worked in the north where settlement has not yet set in extensively.

"There are two two quarters in every township set aside for school lands. These lands are not taxed but they form an endowment which brings a much greater revenue than taxation. By reason of this endowment the government will be able to keep up grants for school purposes. With the sales taking place from time to time no government would be justified in reducing the school grants any appreciable. Only those lands are sold which are a reasonable distance from a railway and of reasonable value. Fifty per cent of all the school lands will make good arable farms but a large area will not and should not be sold.

"Up to five years ago very little attention was given to the betterment of roads and even with what has been done that will always be with us in the rainy season on account of the scarcity of gravel. But rains are necessary for the crops and for the means of sustenance to the settlers. The road problem is becoming easier, however, all the time with the clearing of the country and with the sale of school and railway lands.

"I do not wish to be understood as opposing the scheme of Mr. Telford, but there is another matter to consider. Politicians in Eastern Canada feel that the West has received financial benefit at the time of autonomy, say above what consideration the other provinces received. It will therefore be difficult to get cities and a Liberal or a Conservative government to see how further land grants are made. They think Alberta has enough now. The question of exemption from taxation would also be objectionable as most people now think it is unwise to exempt school lands from taxation."

Speaking on the question of the convention the Premier assured the delegates that whatever changes are made he wanted to see no complicated machinery for local improvements in the province. He drew attention to the county council and township councils in Ontario and said he wanted to see none of that mistaken policy. He would make the machinery as simple as possible but would leave room for some enlargement of the powers at present enjoyed by the local improvement council.

The Premier said that one reason the legislature was enlarged was that with a larger representation the members could keep in better touch with the districts they represent.

More Money Next Year. "I expect that this convention will discuss freely every question which concerns their interests. I shall be pleased to receive your advice on any question of local government. For several years the government has paid aside $500,000 annually for roads and bridges but it is thought that more will be available this year. The object is to assist in having the roads made permanent instead of merely possible. In Ontario there are many municipalities where the roads are not much better than in Alberta. There the question is being taken up very seriously judging by the items frequently appearing in the Ontario papers about good roads. No matter how great the need for railway facilities roads are still just as necessary. I am sure that the greatest consideration will be given to any resolutions which this convention may pass and present to the government."

Later the premier stated that attention was given to the question of the road problem of this province and how the provincial government is seeking to cope with it.
